

DYED AND GONE TO HEAVEN

Before

After

Leather interiors are a must-have option for those who can afford it, but the stuff does have its pitfalls. Ageing hide often cracks and fades and can eventually look rather cheap and nasty. Wear and tear can also lead to marks and rips which just isn't acceptable when you've forked out all that cash in the first place. Dynamix specialises in leather dye, and these latest products, sold in applications of either 60ml, or 250ml – the smaller sized 60ml is suitable for detail work and would cover a seat base, while the larger application is suitable for up to four seats. No special equipment is needed, and the dyes are manufactured to Original BMW specification. In addition Dynamix also offers customers a dying service, with example prices ranging from £50 for a steering wheel to £130 for a full seat. In our opinion the service represents a great-value alternative to retrimming, which can be costly and often unnecessary. If your leather interior is looking a little tired, why not give the lads a call?

PRICE: 60ml £20, 250ml £60 plus P&P

WEB: www.dynamix.uk.com