Even after just a couple of years car leather can become worn and tired looking – it can make the interior of any car look terrible. Local company,

Dynamix specialises in preparing a range of car leather dyes to restore your car leather to its original condition, offering a wide range of colours for all leading prestige manufacturers as well as a free colour match service to ensure the highest standard of finish.

When Ryan from Dynamix contacted me I was very interested – the leather interior of my own car was already looking a bit ropey - through neglect more than age! Ryan kindly offered to match the colour and supply a sample of the product to revive my long-suffering seats. A quick clean, application of the liquid dye and just four hours drying time saw the once-jaded and worn-looking leather back in showroom condition.

This remarkable product is widely used by both trader and enthusiast alike and is complimented by a range of carefully selected leather care products to ensure the long-term protection of your car leather. I've no problem at all recommending Dynamix – it worked wonders on my car and Ryan also tells me that it's also available for domestic leather furniture.
